"Knock and it shall be opened unto you; seek and ye shall find." We, as the Class of 1961 propose not only to seek but to make our own way in the absence of a path already prepared. In this book are enclosed the memories of friends and of the pathways made by those gone before and those we have created ourselves.

In Memoriam

Robert P. Smith (1895-1961)

" - - - it behooves you to learn everything you can learn--don't be afraid to take up the new sciences --delve into the realities of space and peaceful uses for atomic energy and missles.

Administration and Faculty

DR. BEN VAN HORN
Supervising Principal

"Our concern is that our students have the best educational opportunities possible for the community and state to provide; our hope is that they by the application of their talents and the training received become worthy adult citizens."

B. J. Van Horn

MR. ROBERT ST. CLAIR
High School Principal

"One should strive to prepare himself for a challenging station in life. Having achieved this, he should seek another, ever more challenging station, resulting in maximum contribution to humanity."

Robert St Clair

MR. HARRY SNAVELY
Administrative Assistant

"Boys and girls, who are being graduated from high school, naturally have many problems to solve, before they fulfill the commencement speaker's prophecy that they are "the brightest hope of the future." You must still cope with the problems of selective service, crowded colleges, new trends of life, and many other situations that weren't forced on your parents. In the dawning space age there will be opportunities on all sides for those who will be ready to grasp them. Even for those who do not "orbit" unheard possibilities will be opening for the ones who are preapred. To those who have taken this first step, all the good luck you will ever need in an uncertain world.

A Tribute

The Yearbook Staff of the Class of 1961 would like to take this final opportunity to pay tribute to the teachers and administrators who have made our school years the very pleasant and wonderful learning experience they have been. Witb untiring and selfless guidance and dedication you have labored to make us better-prepared, more responsible citizens. Thank you sincerely--and may God bless you as you continue to guide and to teach the students of the future.

Student Council is a high school organization of students, elected by students, to represent students, and to speak for the students. It serves and cooperates with the school administration, and its movement is rapidly surging ahead. It is unusual to find a school without some form of student organization that shares in the administration of the school.
